About the Sid W. Richardson Foundation and its Founder

Sid W. Richardson established the Richardson Foundation in 1947 for the purpose of supporting organizations that serve the people of Texas. Throughout the years, the directors and staff have sought to fulfill his vision by providing grants primarily to educational, health, human service and cultural organizations. When substantial income from assets from the late Mr. Richardson's estate became available in 1962, the Foundation began its current program of distributing major grants, which have totaled $449,470,201.

A lifelong resident of Texas, Mr. Richardson was born on April 25, 1891, in the East Texas town of Athens. Although his interests reached beyond Texas and his personal contacts were worldwide, he retained his utmost concern for the people of his home state. For this reason, he provided in the Foundation's charter that all grants be used to serve the people of Texas.

Oil, cattle and land formed the basis of his lifework. His fortune paralleled the boom and bust nature of the petroleum industry in its early years, but his inherent drive for accomplishment, coupled with his keen insight into human nature and sincere interest in people, contributed more than anything else to his success. He had an amazing instinct about people.

His capacity for generating and maintaining real friendships was exceptional, and he loved to be around true friends. His friends knew him as a man of great courage, yet soft-spoken, kind, sentimental and loyal to everyone who befriended him.

Mr. Richardson was as much at home with cowboys in a country café as dining in fine New York restaurants. He was in no sense extravagant or flamboyant, and he was not impressed with ostentation and people who practiced it.

He had a strong desire to create and build, and his entrepreneurship led him to accept and pursue challenges throughout his life. He was known for his ability to condense complicated situations into simple "horse sense" that endeared him to presidents and business executives. When once asked to describe his own business philosophy, he said, "I guess my philosophy of business life is: Don't be in too big of a hurry, don't get excited, and don't lose your sense of humor."

His reputation as a tireless dealmaker stayed with him to the end of his life. After a full day's work, he died quietly in his sleep on September 30, 1959.

In addition to Mr. Richardson's business dealings, a love for Western art emerged from his ranching experience, which provided him with vivid impressions of the Old West. He became an avid collector of paintings by Frederic Remington (1861-1909) and Charles M. Russell (1864-1926). He thought they captured, better than any other artists, the vitality, color and motion that he had always associated with the West. Today, these magnificent paintings are on permanent exhibit in the Sid Richardson Museum in Sundance Square in Fort Worth, Texas. Established in 1982 and supported by the Foundation, the Museum has one of the nation's most significant private collections of late 19th- and early 20th-century paintings of the American West by Remington and Russell. Visitors from all 50 states and 68 countries have come to view the paintings. The Museum is open daily except for major holidays. Admission is free.

Mr. Richardson continues to have a tremendous impact on his native state through the broad and diverse programs of the Richardson Foundation.

Remembering Valleau Wilkie, Jr.

Val Wilkie retired in 2011 after heading the Sid W. Richardson Foundation for 38 years. He passed away peacefully in the early morning hours of December 23, 2014, at his son's home in Sunapee, New Hampshire. Philanthropy was his profession, but education was his anthem.

We can thank my late parents for Val's coming to Fort Worth to join the Foundation. In 1973, as they searched for someone to lead the Foundation, they were inspired by what was, at the time, a new trend: bringing into philanthropic institutions individuals of exceptional intellect and education, recruited from academia and from public life. They sought a leader who would go beyond mere caretaking of charitable assets, one who would bring an energetic, innovative approach to social responsibility and humanitarian goals. And they knew just where to find such a leader. They had first met Val as history professor and housemaster at Phillips Academy in Andover, Massachusetts, while one of my brothers was at boarding school there, and then later they got to know him better when he was Headmaster at The Governor's Academy, also in Massachusetts, which another of my brothers attended.

Val was a man of exceptional qualities. He had clarity of mind, mastery of language and a positive attitude and outlook. A natural leader and gentleman, he had an innate sense of generosity, consideration and compassion, which he applied with keen intellect and insight. He served as mentor to us all.

What did he teach us? First and foremost, Val taught us through example that when one gives philanthropically, it is not enough to give in dollars alone. Money is of course an essential part, but only one part of true philanthropy. Countless leaders of organizations and institutions in this community came to Val over the years for advice and guidance, and often he sought them out on his own initiative at crucial times when he saw he could give assistance and support.

Val listened, oh so well. Always open, warm and optimistic, he generously gave everyone close and genuine attention. He asked pertinent questions, shared his knowledge, insights and experience, and truly brought wisdom to the task. He taught us that true philanthropy entails working with people, not for your goals, but to help them accomplish their vision, their objectives and their goals.

Val also taught us that improvements in the educational process must begin with fundamentals and must be implemented in a way that they reach everybody. He will long be remembered for his role in improving public education in Texas. A visionary and articulate catalyst, he established the Sid W. Richardson Foundation Forum, a program to support innovation in Texas schools, in the late 1980s. His extensive connections enabled him to convene state and national leaders periodically to focus on key educational issues: the professional development of teachers and principals, the university reward system, turnover in Texas teachers and the challenges of superintendents. To disseminate this valuable work and ensure its positive impact, the Richardson Foundation published the Forum's discussions and recommendations, distributing them to state and national educational decision-makers.

Val taught us to focus on upbringing, family and social settings, and on mentorship that simultaneously teaches discipline, respect, love of learning and the ambition to be all that one can be. A significant part of the Foundation's support through the years has been directed to human service programs that help build character, social skills and ambitions in young people that help to prepare them for and propel them through the educational process, that lead them to a path of learning and a path of success. This approach was pure Val Wilkie, our compassionate mentor and educator.

Val taught us to work together in this community in order to maximize the benefits of our limited resources. He helped forge cooperation among our performing arts groups, the symphony, ballet, opera and the Cliburn. He taught us to be patient and persistent and never lose focus if we wish to accomplish all that we might to make this a truly better city and a better world. For a full decade, for example, he persistently kept alive the vision of a new performing arts hall in Fort Worth. Bass Hall never would have happened without Val's persistence and determination.

An effective executive, Val guided the Foundation's board of directors in providing hundreds of millions of dollars in grants to nonprofit organizations. His work in our community and our state multiplied several-fold the value of the Foundation's philanthropy.

What seemed to be a brilliant choice in 1973 proved four decades later to have been just that, a brilliant choice! To me and my family, he was a friend, advisor, mentor and role model. We miss him but will not forget his legacy and friendship.

CASA OF TARRANT COUNTY

CASA of Tarrant County

CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) of Tarrant County was founded in 1983 by a Tarrant County judge who saw the need for more effective representation of neglected and abused children in the foster care legal system. Trained CASA volunteers are appointed by the Court to serve as the child's advocate in court proceedings. The volunteers meet with the children, family members, teachers and other involved adults to understand the needs of each child and make a well-informed residential placement recommendation to the judge. The CASA volunteer remains connected with the child through changes in foster placement, schools and caseworkers. In 2014, CASA volunteers served 874 Tarrant County youth. # Grant Guidelines

ELIGIBILITY

To qualify for consideration for a grant, an organization must have received a determination letter from the Internal Revenue Service indicating that it is an organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and is treated as other than a private foundation within the meaning of Section 509(a) of the Code.

An organization may also qualify if it falls within the terms of Section 170(c)(1) and the contribution requested is to be used exclusively for public purposes.

Grant requests must be limited to programs and projects within the state of Texas.

No grants can be made to individuals.

Although the Foundation does provide support for programs in some aspects of education and health on a statewide basis, grants are limited to Fort Worth and its environs for human services and cultural organizations.

APPLICATION PROCESS

The Foundation requests a preliminary inquiry, in the form of a letter briefly describing the project or program, prior to the filing of the formal application.

If the project falls within Foundation guidelines, a formal proposal will be accepted for staff review. An applicant may either complete the application form supplied by the Foundation or provide a letter based on the information requested in the form. The applicant may provide additional information as needed to describe special aspects of the project or program. Where appropriate, a copy of the IRS 501(c)(3) determination letter must be supplied.

In most instances, the staff will conduct a site visit.

DEADLINE FOR FORMAL APPLICATIONS

The Board of Directors will hold one meeting each year to consider grant proposals for that year. Formal applications must be received no later than January 15.

APPROVAL PROCESS

Applicants whose proposals have been approved will receive a letter of agreement outlining the terms and conditions of the grant. After an authorized organization official has signed and returned the letter to the Foundation office, thereby indicating acceptance of the terms and conditions, a schedule of grant payments will be established.

PRELIMINARY INQUIRIES SHOULD BE ADDRESSED TO:

Grants Made in 2014

EDUCATIONAL FIRST STEPS

Educational First Steps

Critical brain development happens in the first three years of a child's life. Children who are surrounded by books and engaged in reading and thoughtful conversation will flourish; those who are neglected will fall behind and struggle to catch up.

Educational First Steps (EFS) is a privately funded nonprofit organization serving North Texas children, whose mission is to teach caregivers in daycare centers, preschools and homes how to become effective teachers and create high-quality early-learning environments. Since 1990, EFS has been providing proven tools, techniques and materials that transform caregiving into an enriched early-childhood educational experience. Its Four Steps to Excellence 2.0 program provides centers a continuum of evaluation, mentoring, training and resources to earn national accreditation in 40 months. Services include accreditation guidance, professional development training, in-classroom mentoring, educational tools and curricula, enrichment programs, enrollment services and ongoing assessment. ## FORT WORTH MUSEUM OF SCIENCE AND HISTORY

Fort Worth Museum of Science and History

In 2014, the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History welcomed the first participating classes of Pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten students from three elementary schools in the Morningside Children's Partnership into its renowned "Museum School." The Museum School, founded in 1949, expands the horizons of young children through hands-on experiences with the fascinating world of science and nature. The curriculum combines science, history and anthropology with art, music and literature. Over 500 children from the Morningside Children's Partnership have attended the 30-week school. An independent evaluation showed significant gains for the children in Expressive Language/ Vocabulary, Receptive Language, Social/Emotional Development, Executive Function and Attitude. The teachers commented on the enthusiasm of their students for the Museum program. One Kindergarten teacher stated: "What they have learned are strong, sturdy building blocks in their academic future." One Pre-Kindergarten student exclaimed on his bus ride home from Museum School, "This is the best day of my life!" (www.fwmsh.org)

MOMENTOUS INSTITUTE

Bill Lawrence

Momentous Institute, which has been led and supported by the Salesmanship Club since 1920, serves 6,000 children and family members annually at its lab school and through therapy programs. Its lab school serves 250 children, ages 3 through grade 5, at its campus in a low-income neighborhood in southwest Dallas. The school combines traditional academic instruction with social, emotional and life skills education. The students excel academically and achieve success in their later school years. Momentous Institute's 5th grade "graduates" go on to complete high school at a 97% rate, with 86% enrolling in higher education. In 2014, Momentous Institute entered into a partnership with the Fort Worth Independent School District to integrate its social and emotional health curriculum into the pre-Kindergarten program at four elementary schools in low-income neighborhoods in Fort Worth. ## IMMUNIZATION COLLABORATION OF TARRANT COUNTY

Immunization Collaboration of Tarrant County

The Immunization Collaboration of Tarrant County (ICTC) is a collaboration of agencies and organizations, public and private, committed to the systematic eradication of vaccine-preventable childhood diseases in Tarrant County. Since 1991, ICTC's projects have improved the health and well-being of children through low-cost vaccinations and community education on the importance of childhood immunizations. Yearly, ICTC provides vaccinations to 5,000–7,000 low-income children at vaccination events and at school immunization clinics. Annually, over 20,000 families receive immunization information provided by ICTC and Texas Medical Association Foundation's "Be Wise—Immunize" projects. ICTC hosts vaccination events at 113 schools, the African American Health Expo, the Hispanic Wellness Fair, the Tarrant County Back to School Roundup and various locations across Tarrant County. In 2014, ICTC provided 19,192 doses of vaccine to 7,418 children. Over 110,000 children have received immunizations through ICTC events since 1991. (www.ictchome.org)

UNTHSC PEDIATRIC MOBILE CLINIC

University of North Texas Health Science Center

Responding to the needs of 75,000 medically underserved children in Tarrant County, UNT Health Science Center launched its mobile pediatric clinic to take healthcare directly to these children. The mobile medical team is led by pediatrician Dr. Christina Robinson, a graduate of Fort Worth's Dunbar High School. The mobile clinic, which focuses its services on four of Fort Worth's most underserved neighborhoods, started rolling in May 2014. One year later, the numbers tell the story: more than 1,400 medical visits, 1,500 immunizations and 6,500 vision screenings. An on-board social worker has assisted 600 families with additional resources. The clinic team shares health education information and materials throughout the neighborhoods it serves. UNTHSC students often accompany the unit on its visits to gain invaluable firsthand experience. Community support has exceeded $2 million to date, ensuring a healthy future for the program as well as for our community. (www.unthsc.edu)

H.O.P.E. FARM, INC.

H.O.P.E. Farm, Inc.

H.O.P.E. (Helping Other People Excel) Farm is a leadership program that mentors at-risk boys in low-income neighborhoods in Fort Worth. It operates two campuses, one in east Fort Worth and one in the Como neighborhood. Boys from single-parent homes who lack a positive male influence in their lives enter the “tough love” faith-based program between the ages of 5 and 7 and continue through high school. Sixty boys are enrolled on the two campuses. H.O.P.E. Farm’s 18 employees are dedicated to teaching, coaching and mentoring boys and their families. Its Leadership Development Program offers enriching, educational life skills and recreation programs for the fatherless boys it serves. H.O.P.E. Farm partners with family members and schoolteachers to create a personalized life plan for each boy, with goals and accountability standards. (www.hopefarmfw.org)

JAMES L. WEST ALZHEIMER'S CENTER

Jon Uzzel

Since its founding in 1993, the James L. West Alzheimer's Center has remained the preeminent facility for dementia care and for training of caregivers in North Texas. Its mission is to serve people with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders, and their families, in a compassionate and spiritual environment. The Center serves approximately 100 residents, provides an adult day program for dozens of families and offers educational and stress management training that has touched the lives of more than 8,000 caregivers. Dedicated to advancing the art and science of dementia care, the Center is an innovator in the development of treatments and practices, which are shared across the dementia care community. Five residential "houses" within the Center are under reconstruction and renovation incorporating extensive environmental research and progressive theory to enable the residents and their supportive loved ones to participate in life to the utmost of their ability in a new, state-of-the-art, person-centered environment. ## AIDS OUTREACH CENTER, INC.

AIDS Outreach Center, Inc.

In 1984, a band of Fort Worth volunteers created the predecessor of the AIDS Outreach Center (AOC), which was a center that offered services with dignity and respect to people who had contracted AIDS, then a little understood and deadly disease. By 1996, with advances in the understanding and treatment of the disease, the mission and focus of AOC had changed to the prevention and management of the chronic illness. Responding to community needs, the agency's services have evolved and expanded to offer a continuum of care for patients living with AIDS and for those with an elevated risk for HIV/AIDS. With 34 full-time employees and more than 250 dedicated volunteers, AOC operates 10 programs, including education programs for prevention, testing and treatment and continuing efforts to improve the quality of life and reduce barriers to care for long-term survivors. Annually, AOC offers services to more than 1,600 individuals and their families across all races, ethnicities, genders, ages and sexual identities. (www.aoc.org)

NATIONAL COWGIRL MUSEUM AND HALL OF FAME

Craig Kuhner

Celebrating 41 years in 2016, the National Cowgirl Museum and Hall of Fame proudly boasts its status as the only museum of its kind in the nation. The Museum honors and celebrates women, past and present, whose lives exemplify the courage, resilience and independence that helped shape the American West, and fosters an appreciation of the ideals and spirit of self-reliance they inspire. The Museum offers programs on-site and off-site to all ages, including an innovative distance-learning program that serves schools and senior centers in their home locations. Now in its 15th year in the Cultural District, the Museum has undertaken a comprehensive renovation, including its spectacular new gallery: Hitting the Mark: Cowgirls and Wild West Shows. This gallery features a life-sized hologram of Annie Oakley, interactives and never-before-seen artifacts. (www.cowgirl.net)

KIMBELL ART FOUNDATION

Nic LeHoux

The Kimbell Art Museum, owned and operated by the Kimbell Art Foundation, is internationally renowned for its collections, exhibitions and architecture. The Museum's original building, designed by American architect Louis I. Kahn, is one of the outstanding architectural achievements of the modern era. The Piano Pavilion, a masterwork designed by world-renowned Italian architect Renzo Piano and completed in 2013, continues the tradition of architectural excellence and provides space for special exhibitions and includes classrooms and a 298-seat light-filled auditorium with concert hall acoustics. With the Piano Pavilion, the Museum is able to showcase the breadth of its permanent collection and simultaneously host major international exhibits. The permanent collection includes European masterpieces by Fra Angelico, Michelangelo, Caravaggio, Poussin, Velázquez, Monet, Picasso and Matisse; important collections of Egyptian and classical antiquities; and Asian, Mesoamerican and African art. In 2014, the Museum welcomed over 300,000 visitors from Texas and around the world. (www.kimbellart.org)

COMMUNITIES IN SCHOOLS OF GREATER TARRANT COUNTY

Communities In Schools of Greater Tarrant County

Each year a significant number of 18-year-olds in Tarrant County fail to graduate from high school, which is a problem not only for those students but for their families, our community and our economy. Communities In Schools of Greater Tarrant County (CIS) is a national dropout-prevention program that has been proven to both reduce dropout rates and increase graduation rates. Since 1992, CIS has worked to ensure that at-risk students receive the support they need to succeed in school and stay on track through graduation. CIS counselors are trained as social workers and provide intensive case management services inside local schools, working one-on-one to assess and address the unique needs of at-risk students. The CIS counselors collaborate with community partners to provide a range of services including counseling, health care, food, rent assistance, clothing, pregnancy services and much more. Ninety-eight percent of students served by CIS consistently demonstrate measurable improvement in academics, behavior, attendance, grade promotion, high school graduation and post-secondary enrollment. ## BOYS & GIRLS CLUBS OF GREATER FORT WORTH

Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Fort Worth

Established in 1926, Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Fort Worth (the Club) provides a safe haven and an enriching environment to more than 11,000 members in Tarrant County. Its eight branches serve youth and young adults from over 60 schools in Fort Worth and surrounding communities with educational, recreational and life-skills programs and services. One partner school is the Uplift Mighty Preparatory School, a free, public, college-preparatory charter school located in southeast Fort Worth. Uplift Mighty is part of Uplift Education, the largest charter school network in North Texas. A strategic partnership between the Club and Uplift Education began during the 2015-2016 school year with the opening of a Club on the Uplift Mighty campus. This collaboration provides at-risk youth with a safe place to grow academically, socially and personally. The Club's wrap-around approach provides youth with a fun, engaging and motivating afterschool experience, and it helps the youth develop the academic and life skills to become successful adults. During the inaugural year, the Club's charter school branch served 147 youth (average daily attendance of 108). (www.fortworthkids.org)

CAREFLITE

CareFlite

Since its founding in 1979, CareFlite has transported more than 900,000 patients to health care facilities in and around Tarrant County via helicopter, ground ambulance and fixed-wing aircraft. Serving more than 100 counties within a 150-mile radius of the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex, CareFlite is the only fully integrated medical transport company serving North Texas. It is the eighth-oldest air medical transportation service in the nation and the second oldest in Texas. CareFlite responds to requests from hospitals, fire departments, emergency medical services (EMS) agencies and law enforcement. Its EMS Training Center at the CareFlite campus at Grand Prairie Airport offers world-class training to regional first responders. For those unable to attend training classes in Grand Prairie, a CareFlite Registered Nurse and senior EMS personnel take the training to them in a CareFlite Mobile College that includes a fully equipped ambulance with human patient simulators. The ambulance allows the students to experience life-like situations that prepare them to provide life-saving care in emergency situations. Since October 2015, CareFlite has conducted 149 classes in 94 communities, providing invaluable training to 1,196 first responders and citizen volunteers. ## ACH CHILD AND FAMILY SERVICES

ACH Child and Family Services

For over a century, ACH Child and Family Services (ACH) has been dedicated to protecting children and preserving families in North Texas. Based in Fort Worth, ACH began in 1915 as the dream of women from five Fort Worth churches who were deeply concerned about the plight of the city's orphans and widows with children. The women worked together to open a home that provided a safe environment and offered hope for a better future for the women and children in their care. Today, ACH operates 14 residential and community-based programs that provide a wide range of family support and youth services that address child abuse, neglect and family separation. An example of ACH's life-changing work is its Youth Emergency Shelter, which serves as a safe place for runaway, homeless and trafficked youth, ages 10 to 17 years. In 2015, ACH directly served 2,541 clients in this program, 205 of whom stayed at the shelter. Approximately 23 percent of clients participate in two or more of ACH's programs in a calendar year. ## THE LONGHORN COUNCIL OF THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Longhorn Council of the Boy Scouts of America

The Longhorn Council of the Boy Scouts of America and its 10,000 volunteers operate the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Venturing and Exploring programs. The Council serves nearly 30,000 youth throughout a 23-county area in North and Central Texas, with Tarrant County the primary population center. Since 1995, the Council has partnered with the Fort Worth, Arlington and Birdville ISDs to offer the Cub Scout and Boy Scout character-development programs to low-income youth on school campuses. The Council serves over 3,500 at-risk and low-income inner-city youth from 58 elementary and middle schools in the after-school urban scouting program. The after-school activities include fun and engaging programs and projects that teach life and academic skills and inspire patriotism, which lead to the Cub Scout ranks of Wolf, Bear or Webelos. Many boys have their very first overnight campout during the Council's outdoor adventure held one weekend per month. (www.longhorncouncil.org)

MODERN ART MUSEUM OF FORT WORTH

Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth

In the spring of 2017, the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth will celebrate the 125th anniversary of its founding charter, granted in 1892 to the Fort Worth Public Library and Art Gallery. As the oldest museum in the state of Texas, the Modern maintains one of the foremost collections of modern and contemporary art in the central United States. The museum's permanent collection consists of nearly 2,600 objects, including pieces by acclaimed artists such as Jenny Holzer, Anselm Kiefer, Robert Motherwell, Pablo Picasso, Jackson Pollock, Gerhard Richter, Susan Rothenberg, Richard Serra, Andres Serrano, Cindy Sherman and Andy Warhol. Organizing a host of world-renowned exhibitions and welcoming more than 200,000 visitors each year, the Modern Art Museum promotes understanding and interest in art and artists through curatorial research and publications and through a variety of educational programs including lectures, guided tours, classes and workshops. The Modern's current building was designed by the renowned Japanese architect Tadao Ando and is located in Fort Worth's celebrated Cultural District. (www.themodern.org)

ARTES DE LA ROSA (FORMERLY LATIN ARTS ASSOCIATION)

Michael C. Foster

Artes de la Rosa manages the historic Rose Marine Theater on Fort Worth's North Side and is dedicated to preserving, promoting and interpreting the culture, art and history of the region's Latino community. Every year Artes de la Rosa produces 15 to 20 artistic endeavors at the theater, offering a wide variety of programming in the performing and visual arts. Formerly the Latin Arts Association, and nearly a hundred years old, the organization operates a cultural center for the arts, blending the visual, musical, theatrical and literary-based artistic mediums into a seamless educational experience celebrating Latino culture and traditions. Working with area schools and other community partners, Artes de la Rosa provides a wide range of educational opportunities for all ages. With its nationally recognized arts education offerings, a critically acclaimed performing arts program, a regionally celebrated art gallery and the first Latino Film Festival in Dallas/Fort Worth, Artes de la Rosa is the center for Latino art and culture in North Texas. ## FORT WORTH ZOO

Fort Worth Zoo

In 2016, the Fort Worth Zoo announced “A Wilder Vision,” a $100 million capital campaign and comprehensive plan that includes renovated habitats, new exhibit space, special events space, dining areas and, most importantly, new ways for guests to observe, interact with and learn about animals. The plan encompasses a mission not only for conserving the animal kingdom but also for educating and motivating future leaders. The first phase, African Savanna, which is slated to open in the spring of 2018, will imitate the natural ecosystem of east Africa, where diverse species (giraffes, zebras, ostriches and antelopes) roam freely together. The nationally acclaimed Fort Worth Zoo has been ranked the Best Zoo in Texas by Yahoo Travel, the No. 5 zoo in the nation by USA Travel Guide and the No. 1 attraction in the DFW Metroplex by Zagat survey. The Zoo is home to more than 500 animal species. Its focus on education, conservation and entertainment enhances the lives of more than one million visitors a year. MUSEUM

309 Main Street | Fort Worth, TX 76102 | 817-332-6554
www.sidrichardsonmuseum.org

The Sid Richardson Museum educates, engages and inspires its visitors to find meaning, value and enjoyment in exploring its collection of paintings of the 19th century American West.

The Sid Richardson Museum is known for its focused exhibitions, innovative educational programs for youth and adults, lectures, docent-guided tours, films and the Museum Store. The Museum is open daily except for major holidays, and admission is free.

Since 1982, visitors have come from around the world to view the iconic paintings in the permanent collection by the “old masters” of Western art: Frederic Remington, Charles M. Russell, Oscar E. Berninghaus (a founding member of the Taos Society of Artists), Charles Francis Browne, Edwin Willard Deming, William Gilbert Gaul, Herbert M. Herget, Frank Tenney Johnson, William Robinson Leigh, Peter Moran and Charles Schreyvogel. Sid Richardson amassed one of the most significant private collections of Remington and Russell paintings in the nation in the 1940s and 1950s.

In addition to displaying its permanent collection, the Museum hosts focused exhibitions featuring paintings and sculptures on loan from private collections and prestigious museums. An example is the Museum’s record-breaking exhibition “Lonesome Dove: The Art of Story,” which ran from January through June 2016. Inspired by the 1985 Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Larry McMurtry, Lonesome Dove, the exhibition traced the path from the novel through the original screenplay and filming of the legendary 1989 TV miniseries.

Masterpieces by Remington that had never before been displayed together, from the Richardson’s collection and on loan from Amon Carter Museum of American Art, Fort Worth, Gilcrease Museum, Tulsa, and Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, were exhibited with production materials from the filming of the award-winning miniseries, which are housed in the Wittliff Collections at Texas State University,

San Marcos. Over 27,000 visitors from 50 states and 24 countries explored the 19th century American West through iconic paintings and bronzes by Remington and Russell, a cowboy's diary from an 1868 cattle drive and a book published in 1881 that is considered to be the most important promotional book for the 1880's cattle boom.

The Museum's current exhibition, "Legacy," celebrates Richardson's legacy of philanthropy and collecting art, and it tells stories of the clash of cultures of the 19th century American West. The legacy of conflicts among cowboys, soldiers, explorers, settlers and Indigenous Americans during westward expansion continues to impact America today.

Drawing from the breadth of the Richardson collection, "Legacy" reunites familiar works by Remington and Russell with rarely seen paintings by their contemporaries. The exhibition also features four pieces from a private collection, two bronzes by Remington and one by Russell and a Russell painting. The Sid Richardson Museum's adult programs and events include lectures, in-depth engagements with the collection, movies and hands-on activities.

The Sid Richardson Museum has a variety of educational programs that are designed to engage and challenge children, tweens and teens—from tours, which can be enriched by hands-on studio activities, to Spring Break and Summer Camps.
